

Women other than the wife of the defendant, the prosecuting officer will be asked to produce evidence in support of the charge of adultery. It is expected that the defendant will be able to produce evidence in support of the charge of adultery.

Will to Play Part.
In that event, Mr. Delmas will first attempt to get in evidence Harry Thaw's will, which was ruled out on Friday because the many interdications in "this somewhat cumbersome document," as Mr. Jerome referred to it, had not been sufficiently proved.

This will consists of about sixty pages, some closely typewritten and others in the large handwriting of the defendant. Judge Fitzgerald held that the will must be shown to have been in its present condition when it was signed.

One of the witnesses to the instrument, a Miss Pierce, who was put upon the stand for a few moments yesterday, declared she had not seen the will at the time of witnessing Harry Thaw's signature to it, and could not swear that the interdications and erasures were the same as at the time of the wedding, April 4, 1906, when the will was finally approved by the judge and signed. Harry Thaw himself suggested that the witness be asked if some of the writing in the will had not been done in her presence. She replied that there was considerable writing being done, but she could not remember what it was.

Feared Write.
Mr. Delmas is very anxious to have this will go in evidence, believing it will go further than any other documentary proof he can produce to show the effect Evelyn Nesbit's story of her treatment at the hands of Stanford White had upon the mind of the defendant. Although counsel deny that the information is altogether accurate, it leaked out to-day that one of the provisions in Harry Thaw's will is the setting aside of a sum of $50,000 for the prosecution of all persons who may be concerned in case of the death of the defendant by violence. The probable instigator of the anticipated act of violence is said to be revealed in the provision.

Another paragraph in the will, it is said, provides for a fund for the benefit of young women who, the will declared, suffered treatment at the hands of the dead man, similar to that of his wife.

The reports concerning the will even go so far as to say that the names of Mr. White's alleged victims are included in the clause of the will relating to that subject.

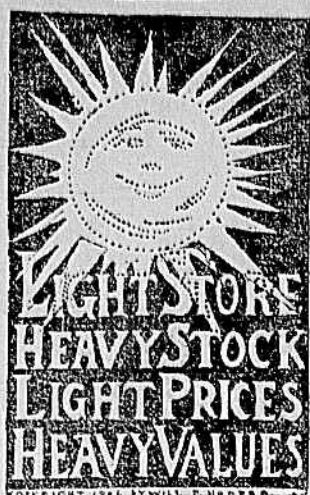

Mr. Delmas, it is said, may call to the stand on Monday, an attorney from Pittsburgh, who will be asked as to the interdications made in the will, and is expected to prove they were put there at the time the testament was signed.

Failing to show that each one of the interdications can be remembered by the witness, Mr. Delmas will offer the codicil to the will, which is in the defendant's own handwriting, without interdications. It is not definitely known whether all the allegations as to Stanford White are in the codicil, but it is said that some of them are.

Thaw's will made provision for Howard Nesbit, Evelyn's brother, who, it has been reported, will take the stand in opposition to his sister. Young Nesbit has been in constant attendance at the trial in company with the late Stanford White's secretary, but never has come near the group of Thaw relatives. The rest of Thaw's property was to go to his wife.

Mutual Wills.
Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw also signed

MEN'S & BOYS' CLOTHING

a will on the night of the wedding, and it is believed that in it she carried out her husband's stipulation that none of her relatives, save her brother, should have any of his money. Several of Thaw's unusual and disconnected letters introduced in evidence, have frequently referred to his determination that Evelyn's mother should not have any share of his property whatsoever. In the event of his wife's death the property should revert to the William Thaw estate.

If the will is finally admitted in evidence, Mr. Delmas must then ask to recall Mrs. Thaw to finish her narrative.

Thaw's counsel do not like the idea of the interruption to her story continuing over any considerable duration of time. Should Mr. Jerome again protest, the several attorneys employed by the defense other than Dr. Wiley will be placed on the stand. They will be shown Harry Thaw's letter to his lawyer and to his wife and then will be confronted by a hypothetical question embracing the wife's story of her experience with Stanford White, the other details surrounding the case, and ultimately the shooting of White on the Madison Square Garden roof.

Other Aliens.
The defense will have a broader foundation for the hypothetical question when its next alienist is put on the stand, and do not anticipate the disarray of the first day.

It was said to-night that District Attorney

turner Jerome's cross-examination of Mrs. Thaw will be brief. The district attorney, being barred by rules of evidence from attempting to controvert any of the things Mrs. Thaw says she told her husband, will confine himself to finding out if she told Harry Thaw all the story she repeated on the witness-stand. If he can trip the witness into an admission that she might not have related some particular detail to the defendant before the killing of Stanford White, Mr. Jerome may ask that all of her testimony, from first to last, be stricken out. In that event, however, she might again be called and go over the ground again. It is thought to be certain that no attempt will be made to offset any of her testimony by calling chorus girls or others who might be expected to know something about the events related.

Mrs. Thaw visited her husband to-day in the Tomb. She seemed pale and nervous when waiting in line to be admitted to the prison, but after a long conversation with him she appeared much brighter.

DID WHITE WRITE TO THAW'S WIFE

Rumor That Defense Has the Letter and Will Produce It.

NEW YORK, February 9.—Stronger than Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's own story of the wrongs she and Harry Thaw suffered at the hands of Stanford White, the strongest piece of evidence of all to show that Thaw was driven mad by Stanford White, is reported to be a letter written by Stanford White to Evelyn Nesbit Thaw after she had become the July wedding and recognized wife of Harry Thaw, trying to drag the girl who had reached an honorable position back into the life out of which Thaw had lifted her.

If it can be shown that White wrote such a letter to Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, the effect on the jury seems bound to sweep their judgment and sentiment in favor of Thaw's acquittal.

The frequent presence of David N. Carvalho at the counsel table and his conference with Thaw's lawyers is an indication that the defense has in its possession some piece of handwriting, the genuineness of which it is vital to Thaw's defense to establish.

That this piece of writing is nothing less than a letter written by White, trying to steal Evelyn Nesbit Thaw from her husband, is strongly rumored. Indeed, at some sources of information, it is absolutely declared to exist.

SIX DEAD BODIES TAKEN FROM WILKESBARRE MINE

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 9.—Six of the seven men, including last night in No. 10 colliery of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, at Wanamie, were found dead to-day.

The bodies were found in the bottom of the mine. The rescuing party is still searching for the seventh. The men were caught in the bottom of the mine through a fire cutting off their escape.

MR. BACON ASKS CUBAN QUESTIONS

Says He Is Not Satisfied With the Way the Island Is Managed.

SENATE SHOULD MAKE LAWS

Does Not Think the War Department Should Rule.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 9.—The army appropriation bill and memorial exercises for the late Representative Marsh, of Illinois, occupied practically the entire day in the Senate. Discussion of the army appropriation bill was unusually interesting, for the reason that it branched off on America's occupation of Cuba, the plans for the equipment of State militia with regulation arms, and the proposed authorization to the War Department to accept reduced fare or free transportation for troops and supplies. The latter was an echo of the debate on the railroad rate bill at the last session of Congress. While the army appropriation bill was under consideration, pertinent questions were asked by Mr. Bacon concerning the amount the appropriations for the army have been swelled by reason of the present occupation of Cuba, and Mr. Warren said there had been no estimate for the cost of the occupation of Cuba, as the bill under consideration provided appropriations for 1908.

The inquiry led to a general discussion of the status of Cuban affairs, in which Senator Cullum, chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, was called upon for a statement as to how long the United States intended to remain in Cuba. The Senator said he had no information on the subject.

Cuban Affairs.

In discussing Cuban affairs Senator Bacon said that he had not been satisfied with the part Congress had been taking in helping the government's policy in that republic. He expressed the opinion that it was for the lawmaking, and not the executive department, to say what the course of the United States should be in Cuba, but that he had felt a delicacy in raising the issue. He said he could not let the session of Congress close without saying that he was not unmindful of the fact that Congress was not exercising the role it should exercise.

It is thought it could have been done by the Senate, and without some expression raising the question of the executive's power to set up governments on foreign soil; to dismiss parliament or to set up parliaments; to dismiss or raise foreign armies, and said further that it should be performed by Congress and not by the President. He added that under the present conditions he should not pursue the subject. Senator Tillman said that as it seemed that the chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs was not going to touch the War Department concerning the Cuban occupation, he wanted to address a question to the chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations.

No Information.
"Has the chairman of that committee any information as to when we are going to get out of Cuba?" he asked.

"None whatever," replied Mr. Cullum. "The chairman gives us no information concerning the present status of our affairs in Cuba?" pursued Mr. Tillman, and Mr. Cullum replied that he could give none whatever.

"It seems a little odd that the Committee on Foreign Relations does not take steps to get information of the anomalous condition of affairs there," said Mr. Tillman. He then gave a description of the situation there as he understood it from published reports. He told of one man, an American, having a stallion stolen by a negro patriot or rebel, and of an act of Secretary Taft confirming the title of the animal to the negro. He said the owner of the horse could see the negro riding it every day, but could not recover it.

"Now, since Secretary Taft ran Palmer's government up a tree and licensed horse-stealing, and has army engineers surveying the islands, it seems that we might have a little information about what is going on," persisted Mr. Tillman.

"A mystery," said Tillman. "It seems a little odd that Congress, the Senate or anybody sees fit to inquire into the extraordinary transactions that are being carried on."

Senator Cullum replied that at the beginning of the session President Roosevelt told the Congress a message telling just what the conditions were in Cuba, and expressed the opinion that probably there has been little change.

THOUSANDS HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND DON'T KNOW IT

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for more sickness and suffering than any other disease, therefore, when through neglect or other causes kidney trouble is permitted to continue, many fatal results are sure to follow.

Your other organs may need attention—but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because as soon as your kidneys begin to get better they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince any one.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable curative power has been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine, you should have the best.

Wilson, Conn., Feb. 15th, 1904.

Dear Sir:—A man could not be in any worse condition than I was with kidney and bladder trouble. I doctored with several good doctors, and a physician told me I had Bright's Disease, and that I would not live over six months. Another told me it was gall stones. I had severe pains in my kidneys all the while, could not sleep, would be dizzy, could not lie down without some one helping me up; back ached and would not get out of bed as thick as cream, and it would seem to me something dreadful. I had to get up many times to urinate.

"I took Swamp-Root, and to-day I am a well man, and never felt better. All of my troubles have gone and show no sign of returning. I take my oath that Swamp-Root put me where I am to-day, and I can prove it by acquaintance. Very truly yours, E. H. HAND.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for EDITORIAL NOTE.—In order to prove the wonderful merits of Swamp-Root you may have a sample bottle and a book of valuable information, both sent absolutely free by mail. The book contains many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonials received from men and women who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy they needed. The value and success of Swamp-Root are so well known that our readers are advised to send for a sample bottle. In sending your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say you read this generous offer in the Richmond Sunday Times-Dispatch. The genuineness of this offer is guaranteed.

am sorry that things do not seem to have quieted down in any way," he said. "I have seen nothing about the recent outbreaks, or any kind of bloodshed, or any kind of trouble," said Mr. Tillman. "What I want to know is when an election is going to be held and when we are going to get out."

"Well, I guess the Senator will find out in due time," said Senator Cullum. "Yes," said the noble lord at the White House chooses to tell me, or some one else may tell me instead that it is none of my business," replied Mr. Tillman. He then gave a description of the situation there as he understood it from published reports.

STEADY HAND.
A Surgeon's Hand Should Be the Firmest of All.

"For fifteen years I have suffered from indigestion, indigestion and nervousness as a result of coffee drinking," said a surgeon the other day.

"The dyspepsia became so bad that I had to limit myself to one cup at breakfast. Even this caused me to lose my food soon after I ate it."

"All the attendant symptoms of indigestion, such as heartburn, palpitation, water brush, wakefulness or disturbed sleep, had fast in the mouth, nervousness, etc., were present to such a degree as to incapacitate me for my practice as a surgeon."

"The result of leaving off coffee and drinking Postum was simply marvelous. The change was wrought forthwith. My sleep steadied and my normal condition of health was restored." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a reason." Read the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville," in place.

BEAT ROBBER OFF.
Driver of Milk-Wagon Hit Highwayman With Bell.

Mr. J. B. Tiller, a Henrico milk dealer, successfully beat off a negro highwayman on the Second Street Road early yesterday morning.

As Mr. Tiller, who drives for his father's dairy, was coming toward the city early in the morning, a negro attempted to hold him up at the point of a pistol. The highwayman tried to climb into the wagon. Mr. Tiller struck him a blow over the head with his heavy bell, knocking the man to the ground. The driver then whipped up his horse and came rapidly to the city, where the attempted hold-up was reported. Owing to the darkness of the early morning Mr. Tiller is not certain that he could identify his assailant.

WAR IMPENDING IN CENTRAL AMERICA

Arbitration for Adjusting Differences Is Abruptly Terminated.

MINISTER COREA SAYS NO WAR

Costa Rica and Salvador Join United States and Mexico to Prevent Hostilities.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 9.—Advises received at the State Department late to-day added to the gravity of the Central American situation. It was reported that the arbitration which has been going on in San Salvador for the adjustment of the differences between Honduras and Nicaragua had been abruptly terminated, and that war was impending.

Minister Corea, representing Nicaragua, called at the State Department and had a long interview respecting the situation. With Assistant Secretary Bacon, whom Secretary Root had charged to represent him in the matter, Senator Corea had no direct advice from his own government, and was rather in search of information that might be of importance. However, he did not hesitate to express the opinion that hostilities would be averted.

Costa Rica and Salvador have joined their efforts to those of the United States and Mexico to prevent war in Central America. Senator Corea, the minister to Washington from Costa Rica, had a conference with State Department officials to-day relative to this subject, and was able to assure them that his government, after communicating with that of Salvador, had undertaken to intervene to the extent of making representations to the opposing governments calculated to induce them to refrain from hostilities.

MONEY DISAPPEARED.

At the Same Time, or Very Nearly So, Went Ollie Williams.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WINCHESTER, VA., February 9.—Ollie Williams, a young man, claiming to be a gold miner, applied at the home of County Clerk Philip Gold, near Winchester, for work last Monday, and found employment. Young Williams was a very handy fellow, capable and energetic, and soon had the confidence of the entire Gold family, as well as that of George A. Chapman, Gold's tenant.

Last night Williams disappeared, simultaneously with his departure $32 in cash and other valuables were missing. The police were notified and have traced Williams, who registered at a local hotel as Henry Smith, of Columbus, O., to Charleston and Martinsburg. Young Williams is reported in the tolls at Martinsburg.
